Stories are full of mystery, and are well told!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. One StarBy David John Ericksonthis is not a AUDIO CD like it says, but are CASSETTE TAPES big difference!!!!!!!!!!!!16 of 19 people found the following review helpful. GREAT SERIES--WISH THEY WOULD BRING BACK RADIO SHOWSBY XEFZ60A@PRODIGY.COMTHIS INSTALLMENT HAS 3 STORIES. FIVE FATHOM RIP IS A FISHY TALE, MYSTERY OF THE MURDERED MISER IS A NEW TWIST ON AN OLD CLASSIC AND THE BUOY IS AN EXCELLENT GHOST STORY. I LOVE THIS WHOLE SERIES.

On October 30, 1938, Orson Welles' radio dramatization of the science-fiction classic The War of the Worlds caused a legendary panic among listeners who became convinced that a Martian invasion was in progress. Forty-five years and one day later, on October 31, 1983, a similar phenomenon occurred on Cape Cod when Steven Thomas Oney broadcast his suspense thriller "The Caller on Line One," only the second installment of his Cape Cod Radio Mystery Theater public radio series. On that Halloween night, Oney's suspense thriller prompted a flood of calls to the local police, as well as to the radio station, and created a traffic jam outside a post office. Since then, Cape Cod Radio Mystery Theater has developed a loyal following among public radio listeners across the country. As creator, writer, producer, and director of the series, Steven Thomas Oney upholds and gracefully updates the grand old tradition of shows such as The Shadow from the golden age of radio. Each radio play is written with wit, style, and plenty of chills, and each features original music, realistic sound effects, and a full cast of characters. It's riveting, spine-tingling, whodunit fun.

About the Author STEVEN THOMAS ONEY, creator, writer, and Edgar Award-winning producer of Cape Cod Radio Mystery Theater, is reviving the "lost art" of radio drama. He has earned accolades from the International Radio Festival and grants from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and the National Endowment for the Arts. He lives on Cape Cod.
