Radio dramaBy lezleyThis series of Cape Cod mysteries are good for people just trying out reading on audio as they have all the different voices and sound effects. These are well done.

The Queen is in the Counting House is a timely tale about up-and-coming Boston Red Sox catcher Zachary Devlin who could perhaps take the team to a World Championship, but only if he can survive-literally-the annual Cape Cod exhibition game. A child's prank goes horribly wrong, trapping a young boy in a cast iron safe in Don't Touch That Dial! The listener follows in real time as Captain Underhill must use his wits to defeat an enemy he can't out-think or out-maneuver-the locked safe-in time to open the door before the boy runs out of air.

About the Author STEVEN THOMAS ONEY, creator, writer, and Edgar Award-winning producer of Cape Cod Radio Mystery Theater, is reviving the "lost art" of radio drama. He has earned accolades from the International Radio Festival and grants from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and the National Endowment for the Arts. He lives on Cape Cod.
