

(Mobile library) Car Talk Science: MIT Wants Its Diplomas Back

Car Talk Science: MIT Wants Its Diplomas Back

From HighBridge Audio

*DOC | audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

 Download

 Read Online

#215452 in Books 2016-08-30 Formats: Audiobook, CD, Unabridged Original language: English 5.30 x 1.10 x 6.40l, Running time: 3600 seconds Binding: Audio CD | File size: 32.Mb

From HighBridge Audio : Car Talk Science: MIT Wants Its Diplomas Back before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Car Talk Science: MIT Wants Its Diplomas Back:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Who Screens These Calls? By Peter Barr These guys were the best. Every Saturday morning I listen to them talk about cars (and everything else under the sun) but that is coming to an end. I'm in the process of downloading a few episodes and get a few CDs to continue to listen to them. The CD was even easy to open and is clear and well recorded. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. THUMBS UP By Danielle Airaghi I 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Don't bother. By Jean Moore Love these guys but this CD was very disappointing. Not even interesting.

Presented together for the first time, here are all-time favorite Car Talk calls that run happily off road, veering into the amazing world of science, where Tom and Ray actually wield some authority. MIT may want its diplomas back, but the world's most knowledgeable garage scientists are undeterred in seeking greater knowledge and laughter.

About the Author Tom and Ray Magliozzi, a.k.a. Click and Clack, the Tappet Brothers, are the hosts of NPR's Car Talk, a syndicated weekly call-in program broadcast nationwide to more than 600 stations and heard by over 3.3 million listeners. Winner of the Peabody Award, Car Talk has been providing advice on everything from car repair to marriage since 1977. Tom and Ray Magliozzi, a.k.a. Click and Clack, the Tappet Brothers, are the hosts of NPR's Car

Talk, a syndicated weekly call-in program broadcast nationwide to more than 600 stations and heard by over 3.3 million listeners. Winner of the Peabody Award, Car Talk has been providing advice on everything from car repair to marriage since 1977.