VeenstraMy 23month old son didn't get it first time but he love it over time.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. We loved this book.By As Told By TinaI have to say that this is probably the book Cristian has enjoyed the most when it comes to story time. He loved clapping his hands and he loved making the sounds. He was laughing and asking me to read it again and again.The illustrations were colorful and bright and it really captured your eyes.This is a book I would probably buy in physical form just so we could read it again and again.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A nice addition to any libraryBy renyI wasn't completely sold on this book at first, but after a couple reads we all love it. We found this at the local library and now will purchase after renewing it for the 3rd time. Our 2.5 year old can "read" this on her own and often recites it during the day. As a designer, I also love the modern and colorful graphics.

A book of sounds where your hands make the noise! Flap, flap, flap and a butterfly flaps its wings. Knock, knock, knock who is at the door? Boom, boom, boom... a boy plays a drum with all his energy! Help tell a story of noise and sound no batteries required, just your hands on each side of the cover. Madalena Matoso studied Communication Design at Lisbon College of Fine Arts and post-graduated in Graphic Editorial Design at the Faculty of Fine Arts in Barcelona, Spain. In 1999 she and three friends created the Planeta Tangerina, dedicated to illustration and graphic design.

A truly toddler-friendly pairing of clapping and counting. Younger children will immediately and delightedly key in to the percussive possibilities an open-and-shut winner. Kirkus sA hardback cover and rounded pages are useful for younger page turners, while older ones will contemplate the quirky people and animals composed of geometric shapes illustrated in the brightest of primary colors. The blocky designs and text demand interactive listening, encouraging kids to stand up and move. Booklist Its very creative and a lot of fun. one of the most engaging and lively counting books Ive ever come across. Clap, Clap deserves a standing ovation! The Picture Book Clap, Clap! is an interactive book that works great for toddlers or young, school-age kids. Get them up, get them moving, and talk about all the great sounds they can make! Books for Kids Bringing the books covers together creates many more actions and sounds in this fun, interactive counting book. Bold and bright geometric illustrations include pink, black, and white faces exploring the noises and sounds no batteries are required! Omnilibros
