Alex Kanakaris : Signs of Intelligent Life on the Internet before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Signs of Intelligent Life on the Internet:

1 of 4 people found the following review helpful. INSIGHTFUL FUN, KANAKARIS IS A TRUE VISIONARY By Bill Crisp I have never had this much fun reading a book so small. How did Alex Kanakaris fit so much wit and insight in so little a space. It is obvious to me, that Alex has been there from the birth of the net. His thoughts and insights are truly visionary. It is rare to find someone with such a clear grasp on what the internet was, is and will/can be. He is an internet pioneer and I can't wait for his next book. 3 of 6 people found the following review helpful. Great Read By Branch Lotspeich This is one of those books that make you think. It's a lot of fun, but check out page 97 if you want to get the idea. If you know about the Internet, this book may give you a new point of view; if you don't know the Internet, you will after reading this book. 2 of 4 people found the following review helpful. FUN READING FOR ALL INTERNET LOVERS By Debbie Lawrence I found this book to be very witty and lots of fun to read.....I laughed all the way through it. Mr. Kanakaris exhibits a wonderfully intelligent sense of humor we can all enjoy.....great reading for anyone who loves the Internet.

In a first-of-its-kind book, Internet visionary Alex Kanakaris, CEO of Kanakaris Communications (the Internet downloadable leader), offers up page after page of Internet wit and wisdom on the greatest communication medium for the 21st century. Alex's topics include: eProgress, Hardware Software, Old Habits Crash Hard, Love Sex Online, Politics Power, Arts Craftiness, Money Cybermoney, Somewhere Out There and People Society.

"What has been happening on the internet really is nothing short of amazing. Finally someone took the time to put it all in perspective. I think Alex Kanakaris will emerge as the Will Rogers of the internet era." -- Jeff Hall, Editor Brentwood Media Group
A fun, catchy, and often humorous take on all things Internet. -- Pat McKenna, Business Development, Microsoft Corp., December 1999
A great, satire laden book for chat rooms and board rooms. -- Darren Grimstead, Partner Ambassador, encoding.com., December 1999
From the Author
Living the Internet lifestyle as the CEO of a company, and innovating in the online delivery of movies and books, inspired me to write "Signs of Intelligent Life on the Internet." Every one of us is being affected by the Internet in ways ranging from profound to humorous. This book gives short anecdotal quotations that comment and reflect on everything Internet. I tried to do a "first of its kind" pocket-size book about the Internet that is fun to pick up and read portions at your leisure.
About the Author
Alex Kanakaris combines a sweeping vision of the evolution of the Internet with an around-the-clock work habit. He has become known for an acerbic wit, outspoken viewpoints, and strong leadership focused on innovation and the development of Kanakaris Communications, Inc. Mr. Kanakaris provided the visionary leadership which resulted in the first delivery over the Internet of a full-length motion picture in December 1995 at the Kanakaris Web site, in conjunction with XING Technology. Today, Kanakaris offers over 250 full-length movies which can be viewed by anyone in the world connected to the Internet. Kanakaris also innovated in direct, over-the-Internet delivery of books, with the Company offering over 250 electronic titles. NetBooks.com enables readers to resize type, turn pages without scrolling, and search by word or phrase. As CEO and Chairman of Kanakaris Communications, Inc., Mr. Kanakaris successfully negotiated the acquisition of the 25 year old Desience Corporation, a supplier of proprietary computer command installations for NASA, U.S. Navy, FBI, IBM, Apple, Mitsubishi and other government agencies and Fortune 500 companies. In 1999, he signed Internet business agreements with Microsoft, encoding.com, Screaming Media, INXSYS, LMKI Communications, ION Systems, GEO Interactive, and others. Mr. Kanakaris began writing published articles at an early age with a column called East European Spectrum for the world's largest stamp collecting newspaper, Linn's Stamp News. Later, he wrote about politics, music and home video. He was editor-in-chief of Video Swapper, Video Entertainment, The Video Critic, New Talent Streetscene and L.A.POP. Mr. Kanakaris was involved in marketing for the world's largest costume jewelry company and a large electronics manufacturer. He became a stockbroker for Dean Witter as part of a personal training and experience program in preparation for becoming CEO of a public company.
