SaylesI love horror movies, that being said you can tell Ronnie Angel loves them as well. I have read alot of review books that were stale and not that interesting. But I found even the movies I had seen I wanted to read his reviews and see what his thoughts were and was entertained by those as well. This is a must read for any slasher fanatic or even horror movie lover. I cant say enough good about this one.6 of 9 people found the following review helpful. Amateurish, poorly writtenBy D. GrubkaAs a slasher aficionado, I'm always looking forward to any kind of reference or review book on the genre. "Slashed Dreams," however, is a nightmare, and not in the good way. Each review is repetitive and ends with a Siskel Ebert-ish "I'm going to give [insert film title here] two out of five stars." There is nothing new here to learn about the films in question, seasoned horror fans will already know all of the trivia or fun facts. Maybe it's just me being picky, but I also think the main cast members should be listed for each film. But then again, the writer of "Slashed Dreams" doesn't even know the name of the character, much less the actor's name, who gets shish kabob-ed in Happy Birthday To Me. Outlandishly amateurish in all areas. Do not waste your money or your time on this book. When Silent Night, Deadly Night gets a perfect five star rating and Prom Night gets a ho-hum two stars, you know you're in trouble.

Revised 2017 Edition. A comprehensive guide to Slasher Horror movies by NW author Ronnie Angel with over three years of research and writing on one of the more endearing genres in fright film history. Features reviews of hundreds of movies in the slasher genre with hard to find and interesting facts, figures and connections for these films - as well as entertaining opinions on each one. Also included are brand new interviews with several of the stars and makers of some of the author's favorite slasher films - including: Adrienne King (Friday The 13th, Friday the 13th Pt. 2, Bully), Felissa Rose (Sleepaway Camp, Slaughter Party), Tom McLoughlin (Friday The 13th Part 6, Sometimes They Come Back), Jim Wynorski (Chopping Mall), Sean Whalen (People Under The Stairs, Hatchett 3), Thomas Drury (Don't Go In The Woods), Jon Fasano (Black Roses, Rock N' Roll Nightmare), Mark Metcalf (The Final Terror, Animal House), John Carl Buechler (Crawlspace, The Prey, Friday the 13th Part 7), Peter Giuliano (The Prowler) and more. It's a must for horror and slasher fans!
