Mark Horton : The Bridge Magicians: Spellbinding Plays from the Polish Stars before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Bridge Magicians: Spellbinding Plays from the Polish Stars:

Over the last ten years, a group of players from Poland has emerged on the world bridge stage, winning world championships, and even invading the United States and winning National titles there too. Yet, apart from the fact that they are incredible card players and play incomprehensible bidding systems, we know little about them. In this book we learn more about these new stars, men and women who have taken the bridge world by storm yet who, up to now, remain enigmas.
