SolomonVery good enactment of this modern classic play. It seems much of it sounds studio recorded with audience reaction dubbed in later as some of the acting sounds contrived and lacks energy. Shirley Knight is a wonder0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The Credeaux CanvasBy Chad MarriottGreat read for any theater enthusiast, actor, director. It was highly entertaining and really fun to read. I'd recommend it to anyone.

Ah, to be young, gifted and broke! Three struggling artists swindle an art collector in Keith Bunin's critically acclaimed new play, starring Hilary Swank. Exploring a complex labyrinth of love, friendship and true intimacy with moon-washed delicacy, Bunin's deft dialogue drives this beautifully constructed play to its soul-shattering climax. A L.A. Theatre Works full-cast performance featuring: Hilary Swank, Chad Lowe, Shirley Knight and Jeremy Sisto.

"a most enjoyable production and worthy of another bravo for L.A. Theatre Works" --audiobookcafe.comBe prepared to flinch as three friends attempt to merge love, greed, and fraud. A tightly knit audio drama is carried out expertly by a talented cast unfazed by working in the audio medium. The story compresses time, and all actors seem firmly on the same imaginary stage as they weave their stories of love, betrayal, and shame against a background of big city bohemian life. It s easy to fall into the seductive rhythm of this performance--and it s over all too soon as the final blue brushstrokes are laid down. You ll enjoy this unusually cinematic audio theater offering. --AudioFile MagazineBe prepared to flinch as three friends attempt to merge love, greed, and fraud.
